Issue: Common Human Resource Issues
Program: Public File 1
Date: July 7, 2013

Description: Human resource professionals play an important strategic role in early 21st century businesses. Attracting and retaining talented employees and motivating them to perform at optimum levels are common traits in high-performing companies. HR professionals and management collaborate to overcome some common challenges involved in hiring, training and leading employees. Many of the issues faced by HR professionals are related to the heightened legal challenges faced by companies. Interpreting and working with the Family Medical Leave Act and Fair Labor Standards Act are examples. HR professionals need to be knowledgeable about the ins and outs of employee laws, the education of managers who apply them and the implementation of hiring and management policies that adapt to them. Immigration and diverse workforces have placed more emphasis on citizenship documentation. Distinguishing between independent contract workers and company employees and addressing workplace privacy issues related to technology use present additional legal challenges for HR professionals. HR professionals spend significant time developing hiring processes that emphasize fairness and follow legal requirements. Interview questions are designed to focus specifically on the requirements for a given job. Applications and other screening tools are also job specific. HR professionals train supervisors and hiring managers to consistently follow guidelines and stick to the script when interviewing. Managers who ask questions outside of those asked of all candidates risk getting into trouble with an upset candidate who isn't hired, which causes legal headaches for the company.

Issue: Help for People in Danger of Losing Their Homes
Program: Public File 1
Date: July 21, 2013

Description: Eighteen states, including California, have been designated as "hardest hit," either because they are struggling with unemployment rates at or above the national average or steep home price declines greater than 20 percent since the housing market downturn. The Hardest Hit Fund was created by President Obama to provide targeted aid to families in these states. On June 23, 2010, California received approval to develop four unique foreclosure prevention proposals with Hardest Hit funding. California was ultimately awarded nearly $2 billion in funds to help at least 100,000 eligible California homeowners avoid preventable foreclosures. California's programs, which are called Keep Your Home California, were developed in collaboration with numerous community partners, foreclosure counselors, housing advocates and others directly involved in helping struggling homeowners. Each of the Keep Your Home California programs is designed to address one or more aspects of the current housing crisis by: Helping low and moderate income homeowners retain their homes if they either have suffered a financial hardship such as unemployment; have experienced a change in household circumstance such as death.

Issue: Walking Benefits
Program: Public File 1
Date: July 14, 2013

Description: Walking is a suitable physical activity for most people. Regular walking can help you lose body fat, maintain a healthy weight, improve your fitness and reduce your risk of developing conditions such as heart disease, type 2 diabetes, osteoporosis and some cancers. Walking is low impact, requires minimal equipment, can be done at any time of day and can be performed at your own pace. Most can get out and walk without worrying about some of the risks associated with other more vigorous forms of exercise. It's also a great form of physical activity for people who are overweight, elderly or those who haven't exercised in a long time. Walk to Thrive! is powered by Kaiser Permanente and complements the important work they are doing along with their community partners to promote safe walking and other forms of "active transportation" through changes in the built environment and other community-based prevention efforts. The goal of Every Body Walk! is to provoke a national conversation about the health benefits of walking and what we can do together to address the barriers to making walking a part of everyday life. Kaiser provides resources on walking, health information, walking maps and links to walking groups and pedestrian advocacy organizations. At the centerpiece of the of the walking campaign is a series of video vignettes featuring civic leaders, walking advocates and everyday people sharing motivational stories about how walking has changed their lives and what communities have done to promote active transportation.

Description: "The Dhance: A Caregiver's Search for Meaning" is real-life experience in becoming a caregiver when crisis threatens your own life. Find comfort, support and how important spiritual belief is when death knocks on the door. We will all face a 'dark night of the soul' as life moves through time; loss of loved one, a terrible disease, natural disaster or crisis will test your body, mind and spirit. For author Coy Cross II, his worst nightmare began as a cancer diagnosis. Not for himself, but for the greatest love he found on earth, his wife Carol who discovered in a medical exam she faced Ovarian Cancer and would need immediate treatment or die. Understanding new roles, being open and accepting of change and challenges, navigating the small things to overcome the overwhelming.

Issue: Benefits of Learning Music
Program: Public File 2
Date: July 14, 2013

Description: Early musical training helps develop brain areas involved in language and reasoning. There is also a causal link between music and spatial intelligence (the ability to perceive the world accurately and to form mental pictures of things). Students of the arts learn to think creatively and to solve problems by imagining various solutions, rejecting outdated rules and assumptions. Recent studies show that students who study the arts are more successful on standardized tests such as the SAT. They also achieve higher grades in high school. In music, a mistake is a mistake; the instrument is in tune or not, the notes are well played or not, the entrance is made or not. It is only by much hard work that a successful performance is possible. Through music study, students learn the value of sustained effort to achieve excellence and the concrete rewards of hard work.. Music study enhances teamwork skills and discipline. In order for an orchestra to sound good, all players must work together harmoniously towards a single goal, the performance, and must commit to learning music, attending rehearsals, and practicing. . Music provides children with a means of self-expression. Self-esteem is a by-product of this self-expression. Music study develops skills that are necessary in the workplace. It focuses on "doing," as opposed to observing, and teaches students how to perform, literally, anywhere in the world. In the music classroom, students can also learn to better communicate and cooperate with one another. Music performance teaches young people to conquer fear and to take risks. A little anxiety is a good thing, and something that will occur often in life. Dealing with it early and often makes it less of a problem later. Music contributes to mental health and can help prevent risky behavior such as teenage drug abuse.

Issue: Benefits of Learning Music
Program: Public File 2
Date: July 14, 2013

Description: Early musical training helps develop brain areas involved in language and reasoning. There is also a causal link between music and spatial intelligence (the ability to perceive the world accurately and to form mental pictures of things). Students of the arts learn to think creatively and to solve problems by imagining various solutions, rejecting outdated rules and assumptions. Recent studies show that students who study the arts are more successful on standardized tests such as the SAT. They also achieve higher grades in high school. In music, a mistake is a mistake; the instrument is in tune or not, the notes are well played or not, the entrance is made or not. It is only by much hard work that a successful performance is possible. Through music study, students learn the value of sustained effort to achieve excellence and the concrete rewards of hard work.. Music study enhances teamwork skills and discipline. In order for an orchestra to sound good, all players must work together harmoniously towards a single goal, the performance, and must commit to learning music, attending rehearsals, and practicing. . Music provides children with a means of self-expression. Self-esteem is a by-product of this self-expression. Music study develops skills that are necessary in the workplace. It focuses on "doing," as opposed to observing, and teaches students how to perform, literally, anywhere in the world. In the music classroom, students can also learn to better communicate and cooperate with one another. Music performance teaches young people to conquer fear and to take risks. A little anxiety is a good thing, and something that will occur often in life. Dealing with it early and often makes it less of a problem later. Music contributes to mental health and can help prevent risky behavior such as teenage drug abuse.

Issue: Keeping Lake Tahoe Clean
Program: Public File 2
Date: July 21, 2013

Description: Keep Tahoe Blue is a solutions-based organization, focused on advocating for sensible environmental regulations backed by science and monitoring, devoted community engagement, grassroots involvement, and a collective ideology of working together to Keep Tahoe Blue. The League is Tahoe's oldest and largest environmental organization. They advocate for strong environmental regulation and enforcement to protect Lake Tahoe for this and future generations, educate and engage the public about how to protect Lake Tahoe, and collaborate with stakeholders to address environmental issues. They support collaborative, innovative, and science-based solutions to environmental issues facing the Lake. The League to Save Lake Tahoe is dedicated to protecting, restoring, and advocating for the ecosystem health and scenic beauty of the Lake Tahoe Basin. The organization focuses on water quality and its clarity for the preservation of a pristine Lake for future generations. "Keep Tahoe Blue" means a crystal clear Lake, protecting watersheds that support native plants and forests and abundant wildlife, an active and informed community of residents and visitors who act as stewards for the Lake, and communities and facilities within longstanding urban boundaries that harmonize with the natural environment, and provide low-impact outdoor recreational opportunities now and into the future.

Issue: 100 Wells for Ethiopia
Program: Public File 2
Date: August 10, 2013

Description: Pacific Dental is committed to giving back on a community-wide and global basis. As part of our global focus we have partnered with Charity: Water to raise money to help give people across the world clean drinking water. Charity: Water is a non-profit organization bringing clean and safe drinking water to people in developing nations and 100% of all public donations go directly to the field to fund water projects.

800 million people around the world don't have access to clean drinking water
Since 2009, Pacific Dental Services and its affiliated offices have raised over $600,000 to help solve this problem. Some things they have done: transformed a village in Haiti; helped fund a second rig in Ethiopia; traveled to Ethiopia with Jada Pinkett Smith and Will Smith.

This year, a majority of Pacific Dental offices have opted into purchasing wells to provide clean drinking water for the residents of Ethiopia. They have committed to raising $1 million – this will fund 100 wells to provide water projects in Tigray, Ethiopia. Water changes everything. The campaign will run from now until the end of the year.

Fundraising efforts for the wells have been pretty grass roots in nature: lemonade stands, asking patients, book drives, etc. It was felt that it would be more of a larger effort and would not only raise a larger pool of funds but would also increase awareness of the effort in the community and amongst the offices as well.

Roseville Crime Stoppers is a community-based program designed to help law enforcement solve crimes by rewarding anonymous tipsters, who supply criminal information, that lead to arrests. Crime Stoppers also provide community recognition for outstanding citizens who assist in identifying crimes. Crime Stoppers can only work through the combined efforts of the community, the media and law enforcement.

Roseville Shop with a Cop

This program was initiated as a crime suppression strategy. Targeting at-risk youth, Shop with a Cop, gives children positive first-time interaction with law enforcement. All too often, our young are inundated with pop culture and the over sensationalizing of lawlessness. One of the most effective tactics in building immediate positive first impressions is through the activity of shopping together. An officer in this program will take an at-risk youth on a shopping spree for clothing, school supplies, and living essentials. Anyone in the community can nominate a youth for a shopping spree and the number of youths able to participate is all relative to the amount of funds in the Shop with a Cop budget.

7/3/2103	25:00	1189	The question of race is never easy...and it's not going away anytime soon. This week on The Best Of Our Knowledge, a look at High Schools, Race, and America's Future. We'll also spend an academic minute looking at the evolution of skin color.
7/10/2013	25:00	1190	We hear a lot about the amount of debt many students take on while attending college. But how many of those schools are making sure those students know how to deal with that debt...or even understand it once they graduation? Today on The Best Of Our Knowledge, we'll hear about one northeast school that now mandates courses in financial literacy for all their students.
7/17/2013	25:00	1191	For years here on TBOOK we've been running our Astrobiology series which, among other things, chronicles scientists' efforts to discover the origins of life. And it's not just life on Earth. Today on The Best Of Our Knowledge, we'll hear from a woman who is a scientist and an explorer doing a long distance search for life on Mars. We'll also hear about the discovery of a new species of fish in a very unusual...and dry...location.
7/24/2013	25:00	1192	I think it's safe to say that over the past few decades we have made enormous changes and advances in the way we communicate. Information is flowing at an amazing pace in almost every aspect in life. However...there is one surprising hold out: the scientific journal. Today on The Best Of Our Knowledge, a conversation on the evolution, or lack thereof, of scientific journals.
7/30/2013	25:00	1193	As we get ready for the new school year, a lot of students are making plans for life after high school. For the majority of those students that means trying to get into the college of their choice...and that means it time for another choice: the ACT or the SAT. Today on the Best Of Our Knowledge, we'll talk to one of the authors of the book Ace The A.C.T, and find out some secrets for test taking happiness.
8/7/2013	25:00	1194	There's an awful lot of learning and training going on in colleges and universities across the US, but according to a new book...not a lot of thinking. Today on the Best Of Our Knowledge, we'll hear why some people in education are saying "why teach". We'll also hear from the mother of a 14 year old literal genius...who was never expected to be able to tie his own shoes. And spend an academic minute imaging an emotional brain.
8/14/2013	25:00	1195	When searching for the origins of life on earth you're going to need a few basic things in your toolbox. One is patience. Another is an understanding of the chemical make-up of life. Today on the Best Of Our Knowledge, our Astro-biology series returns with a look at the chemical make-up of Earth...and how it compares to the earth of a few billion years ago. We'll also spend an academic minute with the really nasty chemistry that goes on the in box jelly fish near the Hawaiian Islands.

8/28/2013	25:00	1197	Where can you find the smartest kids in the world? It's not an easy question. It's probably not even a fair question. 9/17/2013	25:00	1200	Think about the amount of information contained in a seed. The entire genetic make-up and building block of the plant is all right there in a tiny little nub. However, according to Janisse Ray, whole volumes of that information are being lost. She says the explosion of industrial farms and genetically modified seeds is homogenizing what was once a universe of diversity in the plant world. Janisse Ray is an author, naturalist and activist. She is on the faculty of Chatham University's low-residency MFA program and in 2007 was awarded an honorary doctorate from Unity College in Maine. 9/19	25:00	1262	If you love the ocean, small villages and bittersweet stories, this week's 51% is going to be right up your alley. Susan Barnett stumbled across the story of a remote Canadian fishing village that is now deserted...and she admits she fell completely in love. Grand Bruit is a deserted symbol of a way of life that's disappearing, and that could eventually be forgotten.
9/27	25:00	1263	Last week, you met the people who used to live in Grand Bruit, Newfoundland. They voted to close the town down and move away after the cod, which kept their economy afloat, vanished. This week, we have the next chapter – how tourism is being courted in Newfoundland to replace the fish that are gone. Sit back, relax and listen. From Homelands Productions, here is a map of the sea. Plus writing about the darkness behind the picket fence.
